GENERAL INFORMATION ABOUT

Our History:

Voluntary Work-camps Association of Nigeria (VWAN) was founded in 1963 principally to reach out to rural community and employ all resources at her disposal to alleviate the challenges of rural community and as well organize laudable activities to empower the youngsters in the society especially the marginalized group with fewer opportunities.

Our Actions:

In order to address global challenges the organization has been arranging young people of like minds to work together with the community to realize basic necessities of life. This is done through selfless service and supporting the major stakeholders in contributing to nation building.

Our Values:

Various efforts of the government at meeting basic essentials of the society has not been sufficient enough. Hence, we mobilize social workers designated as 'volunteers' to provide some of these basic necessities in conjunction with stakeholders. For this reason we shall keep investing our energies on creating volunteering opportunities that responds to the arising needs of the society and youth without prejudice, particularly of young people with fewer opportunities and special needs

Our Missions:

VWAN strives to promote volunteerism, culture of peace, intercultural exchange and international understanding and solidarity. VWAN is poised to inculcate the spirit of selfless service into the minds of people. We primarily seek to nurture and develop active citizenship in the society and young people in particular, thereby helping them to channel their creative energies into positive vistas of SDGs.

There is also a canteen, an assembly, a physio-therapy room, a vocational center (here, they are trained in skills like beading, cooking, painting, computer, hair-styling and producing shoes and furniture) and a school, which is also attended by external pupils.
